FIRM PROFILE | RRM Design Group

RRM exists because we love creating environments people enjoy. That is what got us into the business over 45 years ago, and it is why we continue to thrive today. Our architects and landscape architects, engineers, surveyors, and planners work with our clients and their communities to create the parks our children play in, the roads we drive down on our way to work, the neighborhoods we come home to, and the fire stations that keep our communities safe.

Our work culture emphasizes collaboration, frequent communication, and accessibility. We're a close partner with our clients, helping them understand and navigate through the project lifecycle. Whether your project is public or private, commercial or residential, we listen, we design, and we deliver. On time. On budget. Since 1974.

160+ CREATIVE PROFESSIONALS Under One Roof

We are expertise-driven in market sectors where we have a true knowledge advantage

RRM utilizes a framework of six distinct market sectors to accurately engage our clients

We have multiple disciplines to improve our level of service and value to clients

RRM has six in-house disciplines: Architecture, Civil Engineering, Landscape Architecture, Planning, Structural Engineering, and Surveying

Architecture Services - The RRM architectural design philosophy is a hands-on team approach in which we involve the client, users, and community in the creative process. This team concept is built around strong single-source management in which one project manager leads the team and guides the project from initial ideas through construction. RRM's architectural projects have earned both local and national awards.

Engineering Services - The RRM civil, structural, and traffic engineering teams along with our surveying group are a key element in the successful completion of land development and building projects. Decades of involvement in the design of public and private improvements give us the ability to devise innovative and appropriate solutions to a range of challenges. RRM's design experience is all-inclusive, from concept development to final construction documents, and includes a wide variety of residential, commercial, and industrial projects.

Landscape Architecture Services - The RRM landscape architecture team approaches each project as a creative and comprehensive design process. Our professionals work closely with architects, planners, civil engineers and environmental scientists to sensitively integrate the built environment with the natural environment. RRM's experience includes master planning, regional landscape planning, urban design, residential/commercial landscape design, park and recreation design, re-vegetation and habitat restoration, design and development guidelines, preparation of construction documents, and construction observation.

Planning Services - RRM's planning group has taken planning beyond theory and into the realm of successful project implementation. Our professionals utilize a thorough understanding of the multi-faceted processes necessary to foster sensitive and responsive planning. RRM's project experience ranges from small-scale land planning projects to the preparation of multiple-ownership specific plans and urban design projects. The depth of experience in our planning group staff promotes an exceptional effectiveness in creative project solutions, establishing consensus, client relationships, and public representation, which is evidenced by our numerous implemented projects across the state.
